

THE ST. LUKE LETTER

July 2021

July 2021

Dear Siblings in Christ,

It can be a challenge to love our neighbors, to love one another, to sometimes love people in the church and out of the church. Jesus calls us to love our neighbor as ourselves. God calls us to love as God loves us. God loves us with an unconditional, eternal, abounding, abiding, grace-filled, merciful, and amazing love. It is impossible for us to assume we will be able to love others in the same way most of the time let alone all the time. Yet we are called to love one another.

I am so often saddened that when I put a name or title to who our neighbor is whom we are to love that I receive resistance, pushback or even refusal. I think of the times when Jesus told parables purposefully using nationalities that would cause the same response I feel, to show that love of neighbor is for all people, not just those who are easier to care for and whom we already take care of. I recall the stories in the Bible of where Jesus purposefully finds himself in questionable circumstances with women and foreigners, with the unclean and the ill – situations where Jesus' own reputation and cleanliness become 'contaminated' because of the cultural understanding and acceptable practices of the day. Jesus was truly an advocate and caretaker of those who others had cast aside, judged as unworthy of love or care, and counter cultural to the religious authorities and societal expectations of the day.

We are disciples of Christ, who claim to follow the example of the way of love that Jesus teaches us. And so I continue to speak, to pray, to be led by the Holy Spirit to name our neighbors whom we are to love – recognizing that all of us are far more than any one title. You are more than a mother or father, a sibling or brother or sister or spouse, or friend. We are all children of God: called and claimed and beloved and created in God's image. And to this I say, Amen. May we support and strive to share God's message of love for all people, for all neighbors, for all the world.

Yours In Christ,
Pr. Becky Horn

QUESTIONS TO PONDER – Why Advocacy?

Why is advocacy important? Isn't our direct service work enough?

As the ELCA, we believe God is calling us into the world to serve together. Through our direct service, we aid immediate needs before us. Through our advocacy work, we impact systemic, long-lasting change.

The public policies our officials write, amend and ultimately adopt can have ongoing effects on our neighbors who are struggling with hunger and living with poverty, as well as God's creation. By telling our lawmakers how Lutheran ministries help our world and urging them to advance legislation that reflects these commitments, we are helping create opportunities to overcome poverty, promote peace and dignity, and defend God's creation.

Why does the ELCA understand advocacy to be part of its mission?

We are a church that is energized by lively engagement in our faith and public life. We serve in response to God's love to meet human needs and protect creation. When we, as ELCA members, lift our voices together to influence policies that advance the common good, we further God's work in our world.

We are also a church that thinks of governments as helpful ways God is active in our world. This is clear from the very first generation of Lutheran reformers and their actions. When you write your public official, you are uniting with an apostolic community of Lutherans concerned with how public policies work for our neighbors as a matter of faith.

In its very first social statement, "The Church in Society: A Lutheran Perspective," from 1991, our church committed to "work with and on behalf of the poor, the powerless and those who suffer, using its power and influence with political and economic decision-making bodies to develop and advocate policies that seek to advance justice, peace and the care of creation."

How does the ELCA determine its advocacy priorities?

ELCA advocacy works for change in public policy based on the priorities framed by ELCA social policy and expressed by ELCA members. To be effective, advocacy draws directly from Lutheran ministries and projects around the world and in communities across the United States. To learn more about specific priorities the ELCA e-Advocacy Network engages, visit the Advocacy Resource page.

Does the U.S. Constitution permit religious bodies to advocate?

Yes, it does. The advocacy of the ELCA and other religious bodies does not violate what is often referred to as "the separation of church and state." The First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution guarantees the exercise of religious freedom, including for the public witness of religious bodies. Based on our Lutheran tradition, our Church in Society social statement describes our church's relationship with governments as one of "institutional separation and functional interaction."

What are the advocacy ministries of the ELCA?

- The ELCA Washington Office helps facilitate the national network of ELCA members advocating on federal policy issues that affect vulnerable people and God's creation.
- The Lutheran Office for World Community monitors the work of the United Nations on behalf of the ELCA and The Lutheran World Federation, working for peace, dignity and reconciliation for all people.
- State Public Policy Offices are Lutheran advocacy presences at the state government level, speaking out on hunger-related causes. This network of state offices is supported by ELCA World Hunger and is a partnership of the churchwide ministries, synods, social ministry organizations and other stakeholders.
- Corporate Social Responsibility ministry addresses the social impact of corporations and their practices and governance by engaging in shareholder advocacy and dialogue with company representatives, boards and executives.

A prayer about slowing down

God beyond time ... teach us to pause in this moment, to tuck ourselves into the curve of your slow arm, that we may know the miracle of now, the gift of this moment: you beside and beyond us, welcoming us outside of all we measure, and standing with us in it. May we see the goodness of our still hours and days, sunrises, sunsets, and the darkness where our rest is found.

FAITHFUL followers

Play these fun variations on Follow the Leader — and remember to follow Jesus wherever you go!

What you need:

- Bean bags
- Tables, chairs, pillows
- Painter’s tape

What you do:

Players line up behind the Leader, who moves around in various ways. Followers must copy the Leader’s movements faithfully. Try these variations:

1. Players must balance a bean bag on their head as they follow the Leader.
2. Set up an obstacle course, and follow the Leader by crawling under tables and chairs, hopping over pillows and so on.
3. With tape, make zigzags and curves on the floor. Then follow the Leader as if walking on a tightrope.
4. The Leader designates types of terrain to imagine, such as mud, snow, ice and a mountain.
5. Also try animal movements, mirrored movements and dancing movements.
